SUMMARY

Product engineer with 4 years turning client and user needs into shipped products across fintech, gaming and Web3. Works across the stack (React/Next.js, Go, TypeScript, PostgreSQL) with a UX research background (interviews, Figma, analytics). Started and is top contributor to Dome, a corporate-services and banking platform; built a launchpad running 10+ launches raising 1M+ BERA.

WORK & LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE

Pixel8Labs (subsidiary of BlockOffice)
Product Engineer Oct 2023 – Present

- Work with partner product teams across Dome, Ramen Finance, W3GG, Mad Meerkats and Onboard, turning their requirements into features shipped across frontend and backend.
- Dome (dome.finance): started the codebase and am top contributor (280+ commits), working with BlockOffice's corporate-services team to put client incorporation, compliance and banking on one platform.
- Dome: migrated client records from Airtable and a legacy corporate-secretary tool, added Claude-powered document extraction with staff approval, and built client-owned banking with guided account opening and approved payments.
- Ramen Finance: worked across frontend and backend to build the launchpad, then handled 10+ project launches on it, collectively raising over 1M BERA through lottery registration, private sales and public sales.
- W3GG: implemented a paid subscription plan with Xsolla as the payment gateway, and integrated Steam so in-game activity verifies quests and appears on player profiles.
